In my experience when a postal company opens a box they put a sticker on it saying as much or use a colored tape when repacking. It's a bit hard to prove or ascertain if the box has been opened. With the foam surround its just an incredibly tight fit and a little obvious how the damage occurred.

I'll speak to my reconer about weighting the cone down and see what he says. Otherwise like you said, a claim may be in order.

Greg,

I've shipped a dozen kits globally exactly like that with no previous damage. It looks like the box was searched and the kits put back carelessly. The center support is skewed outside the holder that is placed in the lid that would distort the shape of the cone. Try setting the cones face down with something like a hardcover book setting on top of the cardboard support tube to see if it straightens out. Otherwise, a damage claim is in order. The cone body is less than 16" edge to edge.

Hi Ken

I had the recone kits delivered directly to my speaker repairer. The 15" kits arrived ok but the 18" cones are toast. The box was just too small for the 18" cone. It actually made contact with outside box it was that tight. See the below pics.

Not later than Tuesday, August 2.

Thanks so very much for your patience.

gkelly1960:

When do you think they will ship?

Your previous message

So sorry for the delay. Been down sick for a few days.

gkelly1960:

Any updates? Its been 17 days. If I dont see any progress by the end of the week or hear back from you, I will have to open a paypal or ebay dispute.

Your previous message

Very good. Thanks for the note.

gkelly1960:

No worries , I jumped the gun and ordered a pair last night. Thanks anyway.

Your previous message

I can get them in a couple of days. $99.00 each.

gkelly1960:

Thank you mate. You don't stock Radian diaphragms by any chance? I am after a pair of 1225-16s

Your previous message

I can make that happen

gkelly1960:

Yes all four. Will they fit in one box?

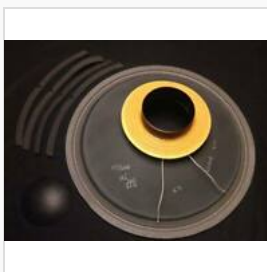

Your previous message

All four kits, correct?

gkelly1960:

Can you please box these for international freight. I am going to use a freight forwarder in Oregon.
